Attempt two concentrated attempts have been made to combine the scattered hands under one leader, according to Americans, but these have failed because of the joniousy existing between the bands. No general campaign has been made against the fillbusters, on account of the small garrisons on the North Western railroad, the Villistas fearing that the road will be cut if any of the garrisons are removed.

The Americans report that there are few former federal soldiers in the fillbusters being peons residing in the vicinity who have become bandits on account of the general cessation of all industries.

San Antonio, Texas, Dec. 5.—United

of Larede, Texas, are being ill treated by the Mexican population, and this is the reason assigned for an order from

From other points along the border

Naco, Ariz., Official Suggests Way to End Firing Into United States.

Naco, Ariz. Dec. 5.—Coroner E. A.
Folsom, in a telegram to governor G.
W. P. Hunt, Priday, suggested a means of ending the continual wounding of soldiers and civilians on American soil by bullets and shells fired by the hostile forces at Naco, Sonora. He would return the fire.

In his message, coroner Folsom said:
There is a remedy for this state of affairs which can be administered promptly and without invasion of forright terrifory. It is to more an act of war to fire into Mexico than for Mexicans to fire into the United States.
Our cuns have the longer range and by returning this fire, we could force
the immediate withdrawal of the prfenders.

for action, and refused to hold inquests over the bodies of those killed, because of the danger to the coroner's jurymen.

Hans Resews Appeal.

Governor Hunt replied he had made another appeal to the state department for the protection of noncombatants in Arisona from Mexican fire.

The toti of three from the Mexican fire Friday included Antonio Bracemonfe, a Mexican teamster who was abot through the heart and killed while he was at work in front of the United States postoffice here, and private John Miller of the 19th U. S. cavalry, who was shot in the breast while near the horder patrol camp.

47 Have Been Shot.

This makes a total of 47 persons hit by the Mexican fire during the siege of Naco, Sonoura, begun two months ago by governor Maytorena with his Villa troops. The besieged, the Carranza forces of Gen, Hill, have suffered less in casualties since Nov. 18 than have the noncombatants in Naco, Ariz.

Caroner Folsom's message to the governor reviews the previous appeals made by Naco citizens. Some time ago committee askied the governor for permission to protect the border with a band of 500 cowboys replacing the federal troops on the border patrol. This permission was refused and governor Hant took the matter up with secretary Bryan and the president.
